NEWS BY TELEGRAPH

Louisville, Ky., August 19.—Harry Sheppard, of Cave City, was shot here by an unknown negro last night, and died at noon. He was appointed a special deputy United States marshal to arrest two negro counterfeiters and found them shooting craps in a box car. He found had money on them, but overlooked a pistol carried by one. He was handcuffing one when the other shot him in the back. The negroes escaped. It was to have been Sheppard's only arrest.

CHINESE CRUISER SUNK.

Hong Kong, August 19.—The Canadian Pacific's steamer Empress of India, from Vanouver, B. C., July 27, and Yokohama, August 10 for Hong Kong, collided near this port with the Chinese cruiser Huang Tai, and the warship sank an hour later. The captain of the cruiser refused to leave his ship and with thirteen men was drowned.

FIRE AT MADISONVILLE.

Madisonville, Ky., August 19.—Fire originated in the second story of the big grocery store of Buck & Co., in this city, and before the flames could be checked damage estimated at $5,000 had resulted. Buck & Co. and Finley & Main were the heaviest losers. The property destroyed was partly covered by insurance.

LIVED IN PADUCAH AWHILE.

Owensboro, Ky., August 19.—Chief Pretty Eagle, a noted Indian of the Mohawk Tribe, died here at noon yesterday. He had been predicting his death for a day or two and died of heart failure. His wife, whom he married at Morganfield, Ky., and who was a member of a respectable family, was with him.

Washington, August 19.—Patents were issued today as follows: David R. Cotner, Bardwell, chair; Josiah B. Gathright, Louisville, hame and trace hook; Emil A. Goepper, Louisville, molding machine; Jacob A. Steinar, Louisville, table cloth.

THE POWERS TRIAL.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 19.—Ole Powers left the witness stand in his own defense yesterday. He drifted into argument in his answers, and was reprimanded by the court. He continued in his denial of all incriminating conversations told by the commonwealth's witnesses, and adhered closely to the story he first told three years ago. He denied that he ever suggested to Frank Cecil that he (Cecil) secure some one to kill Goebel, or that he ever introduced Cecil to Taylor for any such purpose. He denied that at the time he left Frankfort on the morning of the shooting he knew that Goebel was to be assassinated. He said he never conspired with any one to kill Goebel.

Musselmen Agree to Massacre Christians.

Turkey Must Fight Bulgaria, It Almost Seems Certain Now.

CASTRO IMPRISONED MERCHANTS

TO MASSACRE CHRISTIANS.

Sofia, August 19.—A reign of terror is reported to prevail at Uskub where the Christian inhabitants are afraid to leave their houses. The wali issued strictest orders to the Musselman population to remain quiet and not molest their Christian neighbors; but the Musselmans, meeting in the mosques, have resolved at a given signal to massacre the whole Christian population, immediately the first insurgent band appears near Uskub, or on any other pretext.

The Christians are terrorized. The Turkish troops, who are their only protection, do not show the slightest disposition to aid them. The attitude of the Turkish troops was recently plainly manifested when a train load of soldiers, shortly after leaving Uskub, fired on the Bulgarian workmen who were repairing the track. Three of the workmen were killed, and their bodies were left lying on the line.

CASTRO'S LATEST.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, August 19.—Authentic information was received this morning announcing the imprisonment of French, German and Italian merchants at Ciudad, Bolivar, Venezuela, which port was recently recaptured from the Rebels by President Castro's troops, for refusing President Castro's demand for the payment of taxes, already paid to the de facto government.

WAR WITH BULGARIA.

London, August 19.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Chronicle, dated August 14, describes the Turkish officials as in despair at the rising in Macedonia. The railways are busy all the night conveying troops and stores to the disaffected area. War with Bulgaria was believed to be imminent.

HIS FATHER DEAD

MR. B. L. MATTHIS RECEIVES SAD NEWS THIS MORNING.

Mr. B. L. Matthis, formerly physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and recently connected with the office of Superintendent W. J. Hills, of the N. O. and St. L. road, received a message this morning stating that his father, Rev. F. A. Matthis, died yesterday at his home in Davenport, Neb.

Mr. Matthis had been in failing health for some time, but had been better recently, and his death was very sudden. He was past sixty years of age, and was pastor of an English Lutheran church in Davenport. Besides his son here he left a wife, several daughters and another son. He visited Paducah last spring, and those who got to know him will be shocked and grieved to learn of his death.

Mr. B. L. Matthis left this afternoon for Davenport to attend the funeral. He will remain away indefinitely.

CONDITION IMPROVED

CAPT. WILLIAM ROLLINS MAY PULL THROUGH YET—MRS. BALLOWS BETTER.

Capt. William Rollins, the veteran pilot who has been ill for the past several days, is slightly better today, and hope of recovery is revived. He takes nourishment and is conscious at times, and there has been a marked improvement today. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Sarah Ballows, of South Third street, who was hurt by a fall from the excursion train yesterday morning at Ninth and Boyd, is better today and may recover. Last night she rallied and since then indications are for her recovery.

THE CROP REPORT

Tobacco has Improved And has Averaged Fair.

Farm Work is Progressing Well All Over the State.

The weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

"The temperature was considerably below normal until Saturday, when it turned somewhat warmer. The nights, especially, were cool, preventing rapid growth and the maturing of corn and tobacco. Showers occurred in the western section and the southern portions of the central and eastern sections. In some eastern counties drought prevails; crops have been seriously injured, pastures burned, and stock are suffering for grass and water. Rain is needed in all of the eastern section and in most of the central. Corn is very promising, but cool weather has retarded it and much of it is backward; an early frost would find many fields not matured. Most of this crop in the southern and western counties, however, is well advanced.

"Tobacco has improved and averaged nearly fair. Cool nights have kept it back, and a large portion of it is late. Cutting is in progress in some of the southern counties.

"Hemp is rather poor, but it has improved slightly in some localities.

"Pastures are in fine condition and stock is doing well, except where drought prevails.

"Millet, stockpeas, sorghum, gardens and sweet potatoes are advancing nicely. Some millet is ripening. Melons are rather scarce.

"Apples are plentiful in some localities, especially in the western part of the state. Grapes are being marketed but they are not a very good crop.

DEATH'S DOINGS

Mrs. Swayne Townsend Dies After Long Illness.

Mrs. Sport Epstein's Mother Dies at Milwaukee—Burial at Evansville.

Mrs. Rebecca Townsend, wife of Mr. Swayne Townsend, a well known ship carpenter, died this morning at 11:15 o'clock at her home, 1110 South Third street, from abscess of the liver and consumption of the bowels. She had been ill a long while.

Mrs. Townsend was born in Ohio and was 53 years of age. She had lived in Paducah about 30 years. She was married three times, first to Mr. William Spore, then to Mr. William Lord, and to Mr. Townsend about three years ago. Her husband but no children survived her. She was much beloved by those who knew her. No funeral arrangements have been made.

A telegram was received in the city today saying that Mrs. Baer, mother of Mrs. Sport Epstein, formerly of this city, died this morning in Milwaukee, where the family have recently resided. No details of the death were given. The remains will be brought to Evansville, Friday for interment. Mrs. Baer had many friends in Paducah who will be grieved to hear of her death.

"Farm work is progressing well. The soil in most localities has been in fine condition for plowing, and much of that work has been done."

CONDITION IS NOT DANGEROUS—The condition of Fred Iverlett, who was shot by his sister Sunday morning, is better and is not considered in a dangerous condition.

A HARD LUCK STORY

Conductor Brought in After Futile Attempts to Find Him.

Says He Is Afraid of Losing His Job—Case Reinstated Against Buck.

NEWS OF OTHER COURTS

POLICE COURT.

Conductor Fay, of the Illinois Central freight department, who swore out a warrant against Charles Buck some time ago charging him with the theft of $60 or more, was brought in last night by Officer O'Neil on attachment to testify in the case against Buck. The latter was arrested at Cairo and brought back, but Fay failed to appear against him and the warrant was filed away.

Today it was reinstated, Fay said he would like to have the case settled without further trouble as he had lost $60 in money and about $15 in time, and that if he had to come back to testify he was likely to lose his job, as the railroad officials did not want to fool with men who inconvenienced them.

The day of the trial two weeks ago Conductor Fay said he was sent to Water Valley, Miss., and couldn't possibly get here. Judge Sanders informed him that he didn't believe the Illinois Central would fire any man for appearing in a case in which the criminal law had been violated, for he noticed that the railroad always allowed its men plenty of time when its own interests were at stake, or when it was to prosecute any one for stealing from the railroad. The conductor was not fined on the attachment, but was told that Buck would be rearrested and arraigned Saturday, and to be back on that day.

The charge of grand larceny against Lee Atkins, colored, for stealing from B. Welle's, was continued until tomorrow.

The two warrants against Tom Tyner, for forgery, were filed away.

Captain Henry Bailey, of the police department, last night received information of the arrest of Thomas Tyner, Jr., wanted here on a charge of alleged forgery at Lebanon, Tenn. The young man, it will be remembered, is son of the captain of the H. W. Buntorf, and formerly was clerk on the boat. He began a wayward career some time ago and his father in a short time paid out much money to save him from prison on a charge of forgery, but found that it served as encouragement instead of as a deterrent, hence he decided to stop.

Young Tyner several weeks ago had Mr. George Goodman cash a check for $50 signed with Tyner and Earhart's firm name, Nashville, and the paper proved to be a forgery. The young man's father declined to make it good and a warrant was issued for him. Captain Bailey and the local police have since been on the lookout for him and he was last night arrested at Lebanon and Captain Bailey was telephoned. The prisoner agreed to return without a requisition. He is also wanted at Cadiz, Ky., and Clarksville, Tenn., for alleged forgery.

Mr. Ed Drennan, formerly of the New Richmond bar, also has a charge against young Tyner, having cashed a forged check for him about the time Mr. Goodman cashed a check.

It was learned this morning that both cases had been adjusted by the young man's father, and the warrants were filed away. The police this morning telegraphed the authorities at Lebanon, Tenn., to release Tyner, as he was not wanted here, which means that he will not be prosecuted here, and the cases in other places have probably also been fixed up.

The mission of Officer Nixon, of Hopkinsville, yesterday was to locate stolen goods, but he was unsuccessful. The show window of Forbes' hardware store, the most prominent establishment in Hopkinsville was broken (Continued on Fourth Page)

NEW MAIL SERVICE

Capt. Jenks, of Louisville, Here Today on Business.

The Government Will Establish it on the Cairo Division Shortly.

NEWS IN RAILROAD CIRCLES.

Capt. Harry B. Jenks, of Louisville, chief clerk of the railway mail service for Kentucky, is in the city today and went down the Cairo extension of the Illinois Central railroad to prepare a report embodying his recommendation relative to the establishment of the service on the road.

It is not known when the service will be established, but it will no doubt be at least a month or two. Capt. Jenks is one of the best known and most popular men connected with the service and will push matters and see that the people on the new division get mail service as soon as possible.

The Illinois Central railroad is endeavoring to have as large a number of individual stockholders in the company as possible present at the annual meeting on Wednesday, October 21, in Chicago. To bring this about every stockholder is to be given a pass from his home to Chicago, which is good for a four days' stay in that city. This applies to a person who only owns one share or to the one who owns a thousand.

La Center, one of the new towns on the Cairo division of the I. C., is pushing ahead with redoubled vigor since the opening of the railroad, and the new bank will be ready for business the first of October. The new college building will be begun October 1 and completed about the first of the year. Many other buildings will at once go up and the town will soon be quite large.

Second section of fast freight No. 55 of the I. C. ran into the first section in the Fulton yards yesterday afternoon, badly wrecking engine 691 of the second train and demolishing the caboose of the first section. Engineer J. E. Cassel of Paducah, and Fireman Al Hatch were in charge of the wrecked engine, but escaped injury.

The American Express company has opened offices along the new Cairo division and appointed agents, and the people are very much pleased with the metropolitan air everything is assuming. Thus far offices have been opened at Maxon's, Kevil, La Center and Barlow City. The mail contracts will be put into effect as soon as possible.

The I. C. freight traffic is increasing here so that eight extra crews have had to be added to the south and east ends since the first of the month. Several new engines are being built for these divisions and on account of the pressing need of more locomotives, four big freight engines were sent here from the Omaha division.

The I. C. pay car will arrive in the city this afternoon late from the Louisville division. The route taken this time is a new one from the one heretofore and the time is a little better, the car arriving a little earlier.

DIRECTORS MEETING

CALLED SESSION OF Y. M. C. A. BOARD TONIGHT FOR SPECIAL BUSINESS.

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. will have a called meeting tonight at the association building to consider the matter of extending a formal call to Mr. Clarence H. C. Enrlingame to the position of physical director of the local association in place of Mr. B. L. Matthis, resigned. The time for holding the annual meeting of the association when the year's reports will be received and the election of officers of the board will be held will be fixed. It will be some time in September.

Grip's

Grim Grasp Caused Heart Disease.

Could Not Lie On Left Side.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

Mrs. H. R. Jobe, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., writes from Eldredge, the same state, as follows:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure. I only wish that I could tell every sufferer how much good they have done me. Last winter I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which left my heart in a very bad condition. I could not lie down for the smothering spells that would almost overcome me and the feeling of oppression around my heart. I had not been so that could lie on my left side for a long time. I got your Heart Cure and took three bottles. I have no trouble now with my heart and can lie on my left side as well as my right. Formerly I had suffered for years with nervous prostration. I had tried so many remedies that I had got clear out of heart of getting anything that would help me. The nerve of my heart were so affected that sometimes it would lose beats so it would seem to stop altogether. It was on the advice of a lady friend that I tried your Restorative Nerve. I felt better after the first few doses and two bottles of Nerve and one of Heart Cure made me feel like a new person. My heart is all right and my nervousness is all gone. I never fail to recommend it to others afflicted as I was."

THE AUTOMOBILE AND THE CART HORSE.

A swift automobile once swept proudly past a Tired Cart Horse.

"Hello, Old Stick-in-the-Mud!" it called, tauntingly. "Back to the Bonnyard, you Dead One!" So saying, it disappeared in a Cloud of Steam.

A little farther down the pike, the Tired Cart Horse came upon the Swift Automobile, now bused.

"Ah!" said the Steed, with a Horse Laugh. "who is Stick-in-the-Mud now? You are indeed far from your Happy Home."

While the Cart Horse was thinking up other Biting Sarcasms of this nature, they hitched him up to the Damaged Vehicle, and he was compelled to yank it laboriously to the stable, 14 miles away on an up grade.

HOPTOWN GETS ANOTHER.

Paducah just naturally can't beat Hopkinsville, it seems. We are about the only ones they can beat and they are about the only ones we can't beat. Yesterday's game was well played and Paducah lost on errors which strange to say is usual when Orr pitches.

Bomar, one of the Hoptown crack pitchers, was found easily and touched up for eight hits. He was knocked out of the box when he pitched here the last time before.

Orr pitched a good game and struck out eleven men, only six hits being made off him.

Sensational catches and stops were made by Chatham, LeCompte, Becker, of the infield, and Ray, of Paducah's center garden, who pulled down a hot one with his left hand after a fast run back towards the fence and shut out a run. Hoepel's home run was the batting feature.

any great extent.

Watts, known in Hoptown and among the baseball fans, as "Sunny Jim" returned home today. He came here to play with the boys but was not needed. Watts is a good man and held first base down for the visitors here several weeks ago.

Wilson, the so-called "horseshoe pitcher", will act in the box for Paducah this afternoon, while Henson, one of Hoptown's new twirlers, will do the slushwork for the visitors. Henson was knocked out of the box by Cairo several days ago and has not been in since. This will make his second trial.

Lynsky, the Hoptown centerfielder, has been given his release and goes to Huntsville, Ala., to play with the team of that city which is now at the head of the Tennessee-Alabama league. Lynsky has been made an excellent offer of $70 per month and all expenses paid by the management. He was born and raised in Huntsville and came to Hoptown from that city. Street, the catcher, is also a Huntsville boy.

Lumber Market in Kentucky Reported in Good Condition.

Two Years' Prosperity and Conditions Still Favorable.

Albert Cone, of Chicago, who has been all over the state and is connected with the American Lumberman, has just returned from an inspection of the various river lumber points in Kentucky. In discussing the market in this state, Mr. Cone said:

"The supply of oak and poplar, the chief lumbers in Kentucky, has been unusually large, and yet the market has been strong. The demand by manufacturers for these woods has been so great that the price of oak has advanced, while the price of poplar has remained firm. I have visited all the chief lumber points in Kentucky, and have found conditions favorable. Logs are being rafted along the rivers, and will be floated to the lumber centers on the first big rise. Poplar will be supplied in large quantities."

"The past two years have been a period of unprecedented prosperity for lumbermen—so much so that they believe it was too good to last. The enormous quantity of lumber recently thrown on the market raised some doubts as to whether the retail prices would hold under the strain. But they did, and it is now generally believed that there will be no slump unless the general market falls, in which case the price of lumber would naturally seek the prevailing level."

A NEW CURE.

CHICAGO MAN SAYS HE CAN CURE LOOKJAW.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 19—A cure for lookjaw has been discovered and successfully tested here by Dr. S. A. Mathews of the University of Chicago. George Newman, of 9716 Exchange avenue, was the patient and the cure was effected while he was in the midst of the most violent tetanus spasms. The Newman boy caught his toe in the chain of a bicycle and tetanus set in. Nine of the best physicians in Chicago treated the lad, but he steadily grew worse. The spasms began last Tuesday and Dr. Mathews was called. For months Dr. Mathews has been working in the physiological laboratory of the university, where he is an instructor in pharmacology. He has already succeeded in animals and was waiting for a chance to try it on a human. An interavenous injection of salts was made in the lower arm. Little improvement was seen and the boy's pulse was 144. Other injections were given Wednesday and Thursday nights. The pulse went down and he began to improve. He is now almost well and the scientific department of the university is rejoicing over the successful test.

CROSSED THE ARCTIC CIRCLE.

Washington, August 19—Postmaster General Payne has received a cablegram from Charles J. Gliddon, who is making an extensive automobile tour of Europe, saying that he had so far covered 3,590 miles and that he had crossed the Arctic circle in his machine. He also stated that he had officially deposited with the Swedish government an American flag which he had carried across the Arctic circle.

A GOOD WORK DONE

The Children's Home Society Adopts New Plan.

Much Interest Taken Throughout the State in the Work.

PADUCAH A GOOD PLACE.

A great many people have doubtless noticed the small wooden cradles that set on many counters throughout the city, bearing the picture of a forlorn looking child, with the inscription, "Help me to find a home," and will be interested to learn their significance. They are in every city of Kentucky, and are for the benefit of the Children's Home society.

These cradles are placed in conspicuous places, in the majority of the restaurants, drug stores and saloons and constitute only one of several schemes to reach the hearts and pocketbooks of the multitude. Since last July, when the cradles appeared, $150 has been collected, and considering the small amounts dropped into the slots, this represents the contributions of hundreds of people.

The Kentucky Children's Home society is the originator of the scheme, and it is to a general fund for the maintenance of the home that money raised through this medium is applied. The society is a state institution, for the support of which the state allows $5,000 a year, a little less than a third of the annual expenses.

The aim and purpose of the home is to locate destitute, ill-treated and neglected children and place them in the homes of kind and respectable people. Two hundred and thirty-four were placed last year, and as the work is increasing every month, a slight idea of the great good the society is doing can readily be seen.

The work is under the direct supervision of Mr. George L. Schon, the superintendent, who has agents throughout the state constantly on the lookout for unfortunate children.

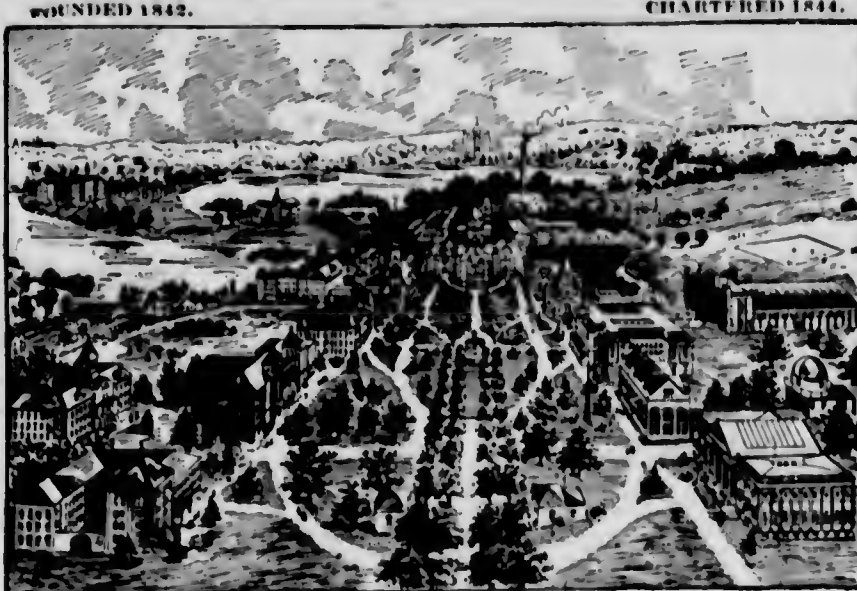

Mr. Schon says the returns from the cradles are greater in saloons than in any other places of business, and a lively interest is taken in the work by the proprietors of these places. One saloon keeper in the state was so enthusiastic that when the cradle in his place was opened and the money counted he asked how much it lacked of being the highest amount collected and how his collections compared with those of his competitor near by. Upon being informed that a saloon around the corner had yielded more, he went down into his pocket and not only made up the difference, but added a dollar to make his the best paying cradle in the city.

Mr. Schon is well known in Paducah and often comes here. Paducah has long been a good town for contributions, and many of the cradles have been left here.

OUR NEW SITE

Kentucky Given Better Worlds Fair Location.

It Is An Ideal Spot and Puts Us Away Ahead.

Through the suggestion of World's Fair officials, including President David R. Francis, the Kentucky building has been given a site that is even more desirable than the one accepted three weeks ago. It is only another instance of the third time working a charm. First the "New Kentucky Home" at the exposition was to have been located on the Plateau of States, but on a second visit to the grounds, President A. Y. Ford, of the Kentucky Exhibit association, and Mr. W. H. Newman, chairman of the building committee, saw a spot more inviting and which was in the main picture of the exposition. Governor Francis, a former Kentuckian himself, was of course willing and Director of Works Isaac S. Taylor soon agreed. Since then it has been found that by locating the building across the avenue leading from the government building to the palace of art and the cascade gardens a much more attractive lawn may be secured. The change has been made and the "New Kentucky Home" will therefore occupy a site that will give the exhibit association every opportunity to show off to advantage on a lawn two hundred feet deep the blue grass of the state and everything in shrubbery and floriculture with which the state abounds. The new and final location has also the advantage of a number of shade trees for which Forest park—the exposition grounds—is noted. On the new site the Kentucky building will face the mines and metallurgy building, standing just 100 yards from this immense exhibit palace. It will be with 200 yards of the government building, that is visited by 90 per cent. of the visitors to every exposition; within 50 yards of the fisheries building; nearby the outdoor mineral display; overlooking the government gun exhibit, and within 150 yards of the Germany building.

This puts Kentucky within the main picture of the exposition, the only state in the union, with the exception of Texas, which stands at Kentucky's rear, that is so distinguished. All other states are hundreds of yards away. Kentucky is at the intersection of two of the main thoroughfares of the grounds, one leading to the Grand Basin, fronting the Cascade Gardens, the piece de resistance of the exposition, corresponding in importance and grandeur to the Court of Honor at the Columbian exposition in Chicago in 1893, and the other to the Terrace of Purchase states, the restaurants and the Million Dollar palace of art. The "New Kentucky Home" and its grounds will be one of the most inviting spots at the great fair.

The Joe Fowler, which broke a shaft several weeks ago, will be ready for service again next week but will not run on account of low water.

SOON LEAVES

Mr. Aleck Craig Expects to Get Large Membership Here.

Some of the Most Substantial Business Men Have Joined the Work.

The annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement association will be held in Evansville this year, some time in November. The members of the association here meet next month to choose delegates.

Mr. Aleck Craig, of Louisville, who is working up interest in the association here at present, expects to get fully 50 members before leaving for Cairo and other points below. He has enlisted in the good work the aid of some of Paducah's best and most substantial business men, and will doubtless secure still more.

Mr. L. S. Dubois, president of the Commercial club, has given him the following endorsement:

To the Business Men of Paducah:

Mr. Aleck Craig, of Louisville is in Paducah in the interest of the Ohio Valley Improvement association. The improvement of the Ohio river so that we may have slack water navigation during the periods of customary low water would be of vast importance to the commercial interests of the river from Pittsburg to Cairo and in this great benefit no city would participate more than Paducah.

I therefore take this means of endorsing the work of Mr. Craig and urge all the business men of this city to give the movement their hearty support by taking a membership in the Ohio Valley Improvement association.

L. S. DUBOIS.
President Commercial and Manufacturers' Association.

CANNOT GET TENTS

MEETING OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS HELD LAST NIGHT.

James Walbert Camp, Confederate Veterans, held a meeting last night and it was reported by Chairman Hern don, of one of the committees, that he had received replies from both Frankfort and Washington that tents or other equipments could not be loaned for the accommodation of veterans at their reunion. The visitors will probably be given cots which will be placed in the floral hall at the fair grounds, where the reunion is to be held in October.

The subscription committees reported that several hundred dollars have been pledged, but much more will have to be secured before the reunion expenses are paid. The camp will meet again two weeks hence.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Paxico, Wayne county, Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them, which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them; the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. CONSIDER, PRAY YOU, CONSIDER.

Consider, O fair lady, your profile when engaged in the fascinating occupation of choosing a hat. If your features be sharply prominent avoid hats that are set back from or off the face. Choose one that comes well forward and make your hair as fluffy as possible. A hat with a soft outline will be much more becoming than one with sharp angles. If you are of the sandy, heavenward-tilted nose style, then select a brim eared here and there. For a prominent-nosed woman, severeness of outline should be avoided and the hat worn well forward. The small featured woman should never wear a picture hat.

SUFFERED 25 YEARS
With Catarrh of the Stomach—
Pe-ru-na Cured.

Congressman Hotkin of Winfield, Kan.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Hotkin says: "My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Pernu and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure."—J. D. Hotkin.

Mr. L. F. Verdery, a prominent real estate agent, of Augusta, Ga., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from catarrhal dyspepsia. I tried many physicians, visited a good many springs, but I believe Peru-na has done more for me than all of the above put together. I feel like a new person."—L. F. Verdery.

The most common form of summer catarrh is catarrh of the stomach. This is generally known as dyspepsia. Peru-na cures these cases like magic.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

WARD TAKEN BACK

Scondrel in Jail at Clarksville Awaiting Trial.

Removed to Nashville Once On Account of Mob Rumored in Circulation.

FORMER PADUCAH PARDONED

WARD IN JAIL.

Clarksville, Tenn., August 19—H. D. Ward, formerly superintendent of the Tennessee Odd Fellows' Home at this place, who has been a fugitive from justice for several months, not being charged with criminal intimacy with two of the little girls at the home, who were formerly in his charge, was brought to Clarksville from Nashville and is now in jail here awaiting trial. Ward was captured at the little California mining town of Alameda, where he was at work as a bookkeeper under an assumed name. The arrest was made by officers from Nashville who, it is said, learned of Ward's whereabouts through an alleged friend of Ward who has, it is said, been in correspondence with him since he skipped this country. There was a reward of $500 for the arrest of Ward, which was offered by the Odd Fellows of the state and the state authorities jointly.

Ward was taken to Nashville last Friday night and was held there until last night because the report gained circulation in Nashville that he might be mobbed if brought here, so intense was the feeling against him. While great indignation exists here against the man, the disposition is to allow the law to take its course. Ward has retained able attorneys to defend him.

WILL GET PARDON.

Nashville, Tenn., August 19—The Tennessee Anti-Saloon league, for reasons which it deems sufficient, has adopted resolutions declaring "That, in view of some special circumstances which have come to our knowledge, we withdraw our protest against the remission of the jail sentence in the case of Messrs. Roy Webster and Max Heilbrunner, convicted of having violated the Adams law." The league declines to give reasons for its action. These men violated the law by opening a saloon at Union City.

FEDERAL PORTFOLIO.

VESUVIUS ON A TEAR.

Naples, August 19—Vesuvius continues active, and the eruption has now continued two weeks. The spectacle is magnificent; the crater is belching flames and smoke to the height of nearly 4,000 feet. In spite of the legend that Naples would be destroyed by Mount Vesuvius, the Neapolitans firmly believe that their patron saint, St. Genaro, will stop the flow of lava with a gesture, should it advance too near Naples. The stream of lava, after flowing 2,650 feet in the direction of Otta Jano, has stopped, while the other stream is still moving, and has reached a point 2,550 feet toward Pompeii.

SUICIDE IS UNKNOWN

No One in Paducah Recognized The Man by Description.

Had Poison and a Hat That Came From Paducah—Other Evidence Destroyed.

ACCOUNT OF HIS RASH ACT

Nothing is known here that is likely to shed any light on the identity of the unknown man who suicided in St. Louis yesterday and refused to tell his name. He is not believed to be a resident of Paducah. The Star says: LABELS ON BOTTLES

IN UNKNOWN VALISE

Nelson Soule & Co., Paducah, Ky., unknown drug.

DuBois, Kolb & Co., druggists, Paducah, Ky., unknown drug.

J. E. Bennett, Lutesville, Mo., empty.

A. A. Bondurant, Cairo, Ill., empty.

Several packages of strychnine tablets were scattered among the phials. Other empty bottles had the labels scratched off.

Mystery surrounds the suicide of an unknown man who died at the city hospital at 2 a. m. Tuesday from the effects of strychnine poisoning.

The man, who was dressed like a well-groomed traveling man, arrived at Union Station Monday night at 7:10 on an Iron Mountain train.

Carrying a grip he staggered through union station, much in the order of a drunken man, to the Twentieth street entrance, where he was found by Policeman Combs leaning up against the stone support.

The officer was attracted to the man by his strange actions and when he saw him fall to the granite and rise again Combs followed to learn the cause of his weakness.

The agonizing expression on the man's face led the policeman to the conclusion that he was not suffering from the effects of strong drink, and he hurriedly summoned an ambulance. At the city hospital it was at first stated that the man was suffering from morphine poisoning.

Later the diagnosis was changed to strychnine poisoning.

The physicians saw at once that the man's condition was hopeless, but exerted every effort to counteract the effects of the drug.

He sank rapidly, however, and died. At times the stranger was unconscious, but in lucid intervals admitted he had taken poison, but said it was none of the public's business why he had done so. He refused to tell his name.

In the suicide's grip was found a dozen vials containing different kinds of deadly poison, but nothing to throw any light on his identity.

According to Conductor S. Ryan, of the Iron Mountain train, on which the suicide came to St. Louis he boarded the train at Allensville, Mo., at 1:10 Monday afternoon.

He took a seat in the smoking compartment of the Pullman, smoked, but rarely engaged in conversation with fellow passengers.

No one saw him take the poison and there was nothing in his manner indicating that he had taken the drug before boarding the train.

The suicide is about 30 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight 130 pounds and smooth faced. He was dressed in light clothes and wore a straw hat.

The Post Dispatch gives a still better account, as follows:

Height 5 feet 8 inches.

Weight 145 pounds.

Age about 25 years.

Hair, dark brown; eyes, light blue; complexion, dark; nose, straight; features, regular; lips, full. Old, white scar over right eye. Wore beard of four or five days' growth.

Clothes were of dark slate color with fine white stripes, well worn and containing no name of maker. Cheap gingham shirt had no laundry mark. Collar, rubber, size 14½.

Hat of light, braided straw, tall crown with a light crease along the top and wide brim. Mark in crown. "Wallerstein's, Paducah, Ky., Size 7.

Only articles on person were prescription blank of Dr. A. A. Bondurant, Cairo, Ill., sack of tobacco and package of cigarette papers.

"J. E. Bennett, Lutesville, Mo., is written on the prescription blank. The word Lutesville was written twice, first spelled "Lootsville" and erly.

A valise contained bottles of poison with labels scratched off, except "Paducah, Ky., also a cake of soap bearing label of Nelson Soule drug store, Paducah, Ky.

Strychnine drunk on a Burlington train between Chicago and St. Louis, caused the death of an unidentified man at the city hospital at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The poison was taken Monday night as the train neared St. Louis and the man was unconscious when removed to the hospital. He was revived there and talked to the attendants, refusing to give his name and saying: "I was tired of living. It is my affair and not the public's."

The chief clerk to his identity is furnished by the name Paducah, Ky., which is on the bottles he carried in a valise, on the hat he wore and on a cake of soap also in the valise.

Most of the bottles contained poison. They were carefully arranged in the valise and the labels were removed except the part containing "Paducah, Ky."

There was one bottle of carbolic acid, one of lantatum, one of quinine, one of powdered morphine, one of strychnine, one of soda mint tablets and one of empty capsules. The only other articles in the valise was a cake of soap.

When searched at the hospital no money or valuables were found on the man's person. Passengers on the train stated, however, that he tipped the porters freely. The only articles on his person were a sack of Duke's Mixture tobacco, a package of cigarette papers and a doctor's prescription blank.

The man boarded the train at Chicago Monday morning for St. Louis. He occupied a seat in the chair car. A few minutes later he staggered back through the aisle and, as he reached his seat, fell to the floor.

A physician on board the train, assisted by other passengers and the conductor administered antidotes and kept him alive until the train reached St. Louis. In response to a telegram an ambulance was in waiting to take him to the hospital. He was unconscious when removed here, but by vigorous treatment was restored and talked to the attendants at intervals until a short time before his death.

The authorities believe the bottles of poison in the valise and the careful removal of names that might lead to identification prove the man carefully planned his death. They are at a loss to explain why he left the name "Paducah, Ky." on all the bottles and in the hat.

PHYSICIAN AND DRUGGISTS.

Ferd & Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., writes: "We were requested by Dr. G. B. Snigley to send for Herbine for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December, and we are glad to say Herbine has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave your salesman another order. We beg to say Dr. G. B. Snigley takes pleasure in recommending Herbine." 50c bottle at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MULES KILLED

AND TWO MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPES.

At Empire today four mules belonging to the Empire Coal Co. were killed by an engine on the L. and N., says yesterday's Hopkinsville New Era. The mules were in a team of six hitched to a road grader. George Lander was on the wheel mule and Ashton Meacham was operating the grader. Both men escaped without injuries. The team was crossing the road and was struck by an engine that was backing from a cut.

Mr. Meacham is a brother to Mr. D. A. Meacham, of the Sun, and formerly resided in Paducah, being the first rural route carrier appointed for this county and resigning before the rural routes were started.

OUTING SPOTS IN THE NORTHWEST

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Conr d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. LAZARRE
... By ...
MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD (Based Upon the Mystery Surrounding the Fate of the Dauphin, Son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette)
Copyright, 1901, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"These horrible incense pots choke me," said Annabel.
"I like them," said the marquis.
"Do you? So do I," she instantly agreed with him.
"Though we get enough incense in church."
"I should think so! Do you like mass?"
"I was brought up on my knees, but I never acquired the real devotee's
back."
"Sit on your heels," imparted Annabel in strict confidence. "Try it."
"I will. Ah, mademoiselle, any one who could bring such comfort into religion might make even wedlock endurable!"
Mme. de Ferrier appeared between the curtains of a deep window. She was talking with Count de Chamouni and an officer in uniform. Her face possessed a rosiest like that of a winter sky, which we call northern lights. The clothes she wore, being always subdued by her head and shoulders, were not noticeable like other women's clothes. But I knew as soon as her eyes rested on me that she found me changed.

The Count came a step to meet me, and I felt indubitably equal to him, with some power which was not in me before.
"You seemed, you have fallen into luck," he said leniently.
"One of our proverbs is, 'A blind pig will find an acorn once in awhile!'"
"There isn't a better acorn in the woods or one harder to shake down.
How did you do it?"

I gave him a wise smile and held my tongue, knowing well that if I had remained in St. Pelagie and the fact ever came to De Chamouni's ears, like other human beings he would have reprehended my plunging into the world.

"We are getting on tremendously, Lazarre! When your inheritance falls in, come back with me to Chasteland.
We will found a wilderness empire!"
I did not inquire what he meant by my inheritance falling in. The marquis pressed behind me, and when I had spoken to Mme. de Ferrier I knew it was his right to take the hand of the woman who had been his little neighbor.

"You don't remember me, madame?"
"Oh, yes, I do, M. de Plessy, and your will fruit to!"
"The rogne! Permit me to tell you those years are hastening to be ready for you once more."
"And Hecette, monsieur—is dear old Hecette alive?"

"She is alive and draws the chair as well as ever. I hear you have a little son. He may love the old pony and chair as you used to love them."
"Seeing you, monsieur, is like coming again to my home!"
"I trust you may come soon!"
They spoke of fruit and cattle.
Neither dared mention the name of any human companion associated with the past.

I took opportunity to ask Count de Chamouni if her lands were recovered.
A baffled look troubled his face.
"The emperor will see her tonight," he answered. "It is impossible to say what can be done until the emperor sees her."
"Is there any truth in the story that he will marry her to the officer who holds her estate?"
The count frowned.
"No—no! That is impossible."
"Will the officer sell his rights if Mme. de Ferrier's are not acknowledged?"

"I have thought of that. And I want to consult the marquis."
When he had a chance to draw the marquis aside I could speak to Mme.
de Ferrier without being overheard, though my time might be short. She stood between the curtains, and the man in uniform had left his place to me.

"Well, I am here," I said.
"And I am glad," she answered.
"I am here because I love you."
She held a fold of the curtain in her hand and looked down at it, then up at me.

"You must not say that again."
"Why?"
"You know why."
"I do not."
"Remember who you are."
"I am your lover."
She looked quickly around the luring drawing room and looked cautiously nearer.

"You are my sovereign."
"I believe that, Eagle. But it does not follow that I shall ever reign."
"Are you safe here? Napoleon Bonaparte has spies."
"But he has regard also for old aristocrats like the Marquis du Plessy."
"Yet remember what he did to the Duke d'Enghien. A Bourbon prince is not allowed in France!"
"How many people consider me a Bourbon prince? I told you why I am here. Fortune has wonderfully helped me since I came to France. Lazarre, the dauphin from the Indian camps,
bravely asks you to marry him, Engle!"

Her face blanched white, but she laughed.
"No De Ferrier ever took a base advantage of royal favor. Don't you think this is a strange conversation in a drawing room of the empire? I told myself for being here—until you came in!"

"Eagle, have you forgotten our supper on the island?"
"Yes, sire." She scarcely breathed
the word.
"My unappointed title is Lazarre.
And I suppose you have forgotten the fog and the mountain too?"
"Yes."
"Lazarre!"
"Yes, Lazarre!"
"You love me! You shall love me!"
"Asa De Ferrier should; no further!"
Her lifted chin expressed a strength
I could not combat. The slight, dark haired girl, younger than myself, mastered and drew me as if my spirit was a stream and she, the ocean into which it must flow. Darkness like that of St. Pelagie dropped over the brilliant room. I was nodding after all but a palpitating boy, venturing because he must venture. Light seemed to strike through her blood, however, endowing her with a splendid pallor.

"I am going," I determined that moment, "to Miltan."
"The adorable curve of her eyelids, unlike any other eyelids I ever saw,
was lost to me, for her eyes flew wide open."
"To—"
She looked around and hesitated to pronounce the name of the Count of Provence.

"Yes, I am going to find some one who belongs to me."
"You have the marquis for a friend."
"And I have also Skenedonk and our tribe for my friends. But there is no one who understands that a man must have some love!"

"Consult Marquis du Plessy about going to Miltan. It may not be wise.
And war is threatened on the frontier."
"I will consult him, of course. But I am going."
"Lazarre, there were ladies on the ship who cursed and swore, and men who were drunk the greater part of the voyage. I was brought up in the old fashioned way by the Saint-Michels, so I know nothing of present customs.
But it seems to me our times are rude and wicked. And you, just awake to the world, have yet the innocence of that little boy who sank into the strange and long stupor. If you changed I think I could not bear it!"
"I will not change."

A stir which must have been widening through the house as a ripple wid-ens on a lake struck us and turned our faces with all others to a man who stood in front of the chimney. He was not large in person, but as an individual his presence was massive—was penetrating. I could have topped him by head and shoulders, yet without mastery. He took snuff as he slightly bowed in every direction, shut the lid with a snap and fidgeted as if impatient to be gone. He had a mouth of wonderful beauty and expression, and his eyes were more alive than the eyes of any other man in the assembly.

I felt his gigantic force as his head dropped forward and he glanced about under his brows.
"There is the emperor," De Cham-ouni told Eagle, and I thought he made indecent haste to return and hale her away before Napoleon.

The greatest soldier in Europe passed from one person to another with the air of doing his duty and getting rid of it. Presently he raised his voice, speaking to Mme. de Ferrier so that all in the room might hear.
"Madame, I am pleased to see that you wear leno. I do not like those English ensembles, sold at the price of their weight in gold and which do not look half as well as beautiful white leno.
Wear leno, cumber or silk, ladies, and then my manufactures will flourish."

I wondered if he would remember the face of the man pushed against his wheel and called an assassin when the Marquis du Plessy named me to him
as the citizen Lazarre.

"You are a lucky man, Citizen Lazarre, to gain the marquis for your friend. I have been trying a number of years to make him mine."
"All Frenchmen are the friends of Napoleon," the marquis said to me.
I spoke directly to the sovereign, thereby violating the rule, my friend told me afterward, laughing, and I naturally was a stalker for precedent.

"But all Frenchmen," I could not help reminding the man in power, "are not faithful friends."
He gave me a sharp look as he pressed on and repeated what I afterward learned was one of his favorite maxims:
"A faithful friend is the true image."

CHAPTER XVI.
"MUST you go to Miltan?" the Marquis du Plessy said when I told him what I intended to do. "It is a long, expensive post journey, and part of the way you may not be able to post.
Ilga, on the gulf beyond Miltan, is a fine old town of pointed gables and high stone houses. But when I was in Miltan I found it a mere winter camp of Russian nobles. The houses are low, one story structures. There is but one castle, and in that his royal highness the Count of Provence holds minute court."

"I must go whether I am welcome or not."
"But I may not last until you come
back."
"You will last two months. Can't I post to Miltan and back in two months?"
"God knows."
I looked at him drooping forward in the saddle, and said:
"If you need me I will stay, and think no more about seeing those of my own blood."
"I do need you, but you shall not stay. You shall go to Miltan in my own post carriage. It will bring you back sooner."

But his post carriage I could not accept. The venture to Miltan, its wear and tear and waste, were my own, and I promised to return with all speed. I could have undertaken the road afford, driven by the necessity I felt.

"The Duchess of Angouleme is a good girl," said the marquis, following the line of my thoughts. "She has devoted herself to her uncle and her husband. When the late czar withdrew his pension and turned the whole minute court out of Miltan, she went with her uncle, and even waded the snow with him when they fell into straits.
Diamonds given to her by her grandmother, the Empress Maria Theresa, she sold for his support. But the new czar reinstated them, and though they live less pretentiously at Miltan in these days, they still have their priest and almoner, the Duke of Gulech, and other courtiers hanging upon them. My boy, can you make a court bow and walk backward? You must practice before going into Russia."

"Wouldn't it be better," I said, "for those who know how, to practice the accomplishment before me?"
"Imagine the Count of Provence stepping down from playing royalty to do that!" my friend laughed.

"I don't know why he shouldn't, since he knows I am alive. He has sent money every year for my support."
"An established custom, Lazarre, gains strength every day. It is continued. You see how hard it is to overturn an existing system, because men have to undo the work they have been doing perhaps for a thousand years.
Time gives enormous stability. Monsieur the Count of Provence has been practicing royalty since word went out that his nephew had died in the Temple. It will be no easy matter to convince him you are fit to play king in his stead."

This did not disturb me, however. I thought more of my sister, and I thought of vast stretches across the center of Europe. The Indian stirred in me, as it always did stir when the woman I wanted was withdrawn from me.

We walked through meadow and park to the little palaces called Grand and Petit Trianon, where the intimate life of the last royal family had been lived. I looked well at their outer garb, but could not explore them.

The groom held our horses in the street that leads up to the Place d'Armes, and as we mounted back I kicked old leaves which had fallen autumn after autumn and banked the path.

It rushed over me again.
I felt my arms go above my head as they did when I sank into the depths of recollection.

"Lazarre! Are you in a fit?" The Marquis du Plessy seized me.
"I remember! I remember! I was kicking the leaves. I was walking with my father and mother—somewhere—somewhere, and something threatened us!"

"It was in the garden of the Tulleries," said the Marquis du Plessy
